Asked for DefenseHouse Committee Submits New Recommendations This Morn

Washington, March 21—(AP)—An additional outlay of $4,038,810,774 for the army and navy, including funds for new plant capacity sufficient to supply a 4,000,000-man army "on a combat status" was recommended to the house today by its appropriations committee.

About half of the huge sum would be a direct cash appropriation with the balance in contract authorizations for which congress would have to provide the funds later, possibly this year.

The committee explained that roughly half of the army's $3,778,393,254 share was earmarked for new projects. The balance originally had been included in the war department's budget estimates for the fiscal year starting July 1 and were transferred to this bill to expedite the program.

Opening debate on the measure, Rep. Woodrum (D-Va) told the house that exclusive of the $7,000,000,000 to finance the British aid program, the pending bill brought to $25,182,674,015 the total of appropriations, contract authorizations and budget estimates for both the army and navy for the current and next fiscal years.

Restricts Beef Purchases
The bill contained an amendment by Rep. Scruham (D-Nev) to prohibit expenditure of any of the funds for Argentine canned beef or any other food product produced outside the United States, unless it cannot be obtained here.

A similar prohibition has been carried in the regular naval appropriation bills for several years. The administration sought to eliminate it last week from the navy measure but the house committee blocked the attempt. Yesterday, a provision to strike it out was defeated in the senate by a tie vote when Vice President Wallace was absent from the chamber.

In broad outline, the army section of the bill called for:

$1,000,000,000 for the procurement of 3,600 bombing planes—2,400 medium, two-engine craft and 1,200 of the heavy, four-engine type—to be produced at four new assembly plants being constructed in the midwest. Parts for the planes will be manufactured by about 400 contractors, including many automobile factories.

$343,288,140 for the purchase of 1,425 other bombers and transport planes required to complete the Air Corps' current 18,000-plane program.

$971,769,114 for ordnance and a variety of other military equipment to be held in reserve.

Funds for New Bases
A total of $148,039,296 was included for the continuation of construction and development of the new Atlantic island bases and the installation of defense equipment there and for establishment of two intermediate landing fields and other work in Alaska.

The navy's share of the total was $295,416,820, including $133,118,820 for anti-aircraft guns and (Continued on page 6)

Mother and Little Child Lost in Snow

Montrose, Colo., March 21—(AP)—Scattered signal fires glowed under the storm-blacked sky over wild and lonely Horsey basin early today as weary rangers plodded in the deep-drifted wilderness in search of a young mother and child.

Mrs. Laura Boyd, 22, and her six-year-old daughter set out from their weather-worn plume ranch home last Saturday morning, presumably for Montrose, 33 miles distant.

Their trail in the crusted snow of late winter—marked by Mrs. Boyd's discarded handbag, her woolen stockings, and the child's tiny leggings—was discovered by Rancher Earl Herman.

A neighbor of the Boyds' Herman had trudged the 12 miles his ranch by snowshoe through snow four feet deep on the level to deliver a letter from Otis Boyd telling his wife he had found a job in a mine at Telluride.

Last night Herman met a searching party he had summoned by a message he relayed through another rangeman and told them the trail he had followed through the Uncompaghe plateau basin had been obliterated late yesterday as the sun melted the snow crust.

He had followed the trail since Tuesday by ski.

Among the searchers retracing Herman's trail last night, lightning signal fires for the lost pair along the way, was Otis Boyd.

Sauerkraut and --

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 21—(AP)—Artemus Knuckles sued in justice of the peace court to get back a pig that had wandered onto a neighbor's farm and been confiscated. His lawyer was David Hogg.

Hogg cited a decision in a like case given by Sullivan Circuit Judge Martin L. Pigg. Pigg's decree was based on an opinion of Indiana Supreme court Judge John G. Berks.

But Justice William Moberly didn't have to rule on the question, was the pig Knuckles'?

Knuckles and neighbor settled the case out of court. Knuckles paid $5 for the hog's keep and the neighbor gave him his hog back.

Dixon's Soldiers
Now Established
in Camp Forrest

Camp Forrest, Tenn., March 21—(AP)—By Sunday next Monday, if nothing goes amiss, the transfer of Illinois troops to this big army camp will be marked down as a job completed.

Units of the Prairie State's 33rd division are arriving daily in increasing numbers. When the 132nd infantry regiment of the 66th brigade moves in Monday all will be in readiness for the year's intensified training decreed by congress.

Yesterday saw the arrival of the 129th infantry—1,216 men from 14 cities north of Peoria. The unit, under the command of Col. Cassius Poust, was transported by six special trains.

Due today was the 130th infantry—composed of companies from towns south of Peoria—under the command of Col. Robert Davis. Another regiment, the 131st, will arrive tomorrow and then the 132nd on Monday.

The 129th and 130th comprise the 65th brigade under the command of Brig. Gen. Diller S. Meyer, while the 131st and 132nd make up the 66th brigade—an all-Chicago outfit—commanded by Brig. Gen. Albert L. Culbertson.

Veteran of Civil War,
Disowned by Family,
Dies at Age of 105

Anna, Ill., March 21—(AP)—Tillman Manus, a Civil war veteran who would have observed his 105th birthday next April 9, died last night at his Union county farm home. He had been ill two weeks.

Manus, born in Tennessee, was disowned by his family when he joined the Union army after hearing the Lincoln-Douglas debate here in 1858. He had moved to a farm near Anna when 21 years old and it was on this farm that his death occurred.

Funeral services will be held here Sunday afternoon. Survivors include six children, five sons and a daughter, ranging in age from 70 to 82 years.

Another Turkey Day

Scott Field, Ill., March 21—(AP)—Tomorrow is moving day at the Army Air Corps technical school, but soldiers probably will remember the occasion by a tummy-full of turkey.

To celebrate transfer of the radio code room from an old hangar to a group of new buildings, Maj. Sheldon E. Edwards, mess officer, ordered 21 tons of turkey—plus trimmings—for dinner.

Rejected Lee Co.
Draftee Held on Father's ChargesDarrel Holly Accused of Threatening To Kill
His Sire

Darrell Holly, 23, Lee county draftee, was taken in custody in a private home in Rochelle last night about 10:30 o'clock by Night Officer Frank Murray, of Rochelle, Deputy Sheriff Michaels of DeKalb county and Sheriff Gilbert Finch and deputies from Dixon who found him sleeping at the home of a friend.

He was brought to the Lee county jail here pending an investigation, started when George Holly, a farmer residing about one mile south of the village of Lee in Willow Creek township, telephoned the Lee county sheriff's office at 9 o'clock, stating that his life was in danger and that his son had threatened not only to kill him but had made a similar threat against another resident of Lee, The elder Holly feared that the son planned to kill him as he slept, and leaving the house, he drove to Lee and then to Steward, where he telephoned the sheriff's office, seeking protection.

Was Traced Easily
Sheriff Finch and deputies sped to the village of Lee where they found the elder Holly with Deputy Michaels of the DeKalb county sheriff's force. From them it was learned that the son had left his home with a friend and had presumably gone to Rochelle. The officers proceeded to Rochelle where with the assistance of Night Officer Murray, they soon located the home of young Holly's friends and found him asleep on a couch in the parlor.

The elder Holly was reported to have told the officers that the son had been called in the last group of draftees from Lee county through the second district office at Amboy and had reported in Chicago yesterday. The father was said to have stated that his son had been rejected and returned to Lee last evening. Holly, senior, was said to have told officers that he was reading a paper after supper last evening when he overheard a conversation between his son and his wife, during which the former remarked that he would kill his father and another person living in Lee. The father admitted that there had been trouble between him and the son for several months and that last evening's threat was not the first outbreak at the home.

A charge of disorderly conduct was preferred against Holly today in Justice J. O. Shaulis court and a fine of $25 and costs was assessed. He was returned to the county jail to await the payment of the fine.

Illinois Professor Has
Narrow Escape in Crash
Near Here Yesterday

Forrest Heeren, of the department of economics of the Illinois department of agriculture at the University of Illinois, experienced a narrow escape from being seriously injured, yesterday afternoon about 2:30 while driving north on the route 26 paving about five miles south of Dixon. He was en route to Oregon where he was scheduled to deliver an address before the Ogle County Farm Bureau last evening.

Heeren's car skidded at a wet spot on the concrete paving and crashed into the side of a south bound truck belonging to George Sears and driven by Donald Munz, both of Milledgeville. The car was almost totally demolished and the truck was badly damaged. Heeren suffered numerous cuts and bruises and was removed to the Dixon public hospital where his injuries were dressed. The occupants of the truck escaped uninjured. Sergeant Edward Mahan of the state police force investigated the accident and had the wrecked vehicles hauled to local garages.

Funeral services are to be held at St. Patrick's Catholic church at Amboy Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and the body will be taken to Henry, Ill., where interment will be made in Calvary cemetery. The deceased, who was born in Marshall county, is survived by her husband, four sisters and two brothers.

Moline Social Club
Opposes Sales Tax

Chicago, March 21—(AP)—A test suit to enjoin the state from collecting retailers' occupational taxes from a Moline, Ill., social club was filed yesterday in Circuit court.

The bill stated that the Seventy-Seven club and many like it have been classified by the department of finance with "hotels and restaurants" selling food to the public.

The club contended that since it sells only to its membership, which is constant, it did not fall into this classification.

Woman Takes Life
Following Quarrel

Mrs. Melvin Daum, 26, residing three miles west of Amboy, died yesterday as the result of poisoning it was established at an inquest conducted by Coroner Frank E. Nangle at the Malm funeral home at Amboy today, when the jury returned a verdict finding that death resulted from poisoning, self-inflicted and with suicidal intent, while temporarily deranged.

The testimony developed the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Daum had attended a dancing party at Amboy and a dispute developed. Arriving at their home late Wednesday night, the husband prepared to retire and called to his wife. She finally answered him by stating that if he desired to kiss her while she was still alive to come to her at once. This was his first knowledge that she had taken a quantity of a drug kept in the house for poisoning rodents, and her death followed some time later.

Funeral services are to be held at St. Patrick's Catholic church at Amboy Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and the body will be taken to Henry, Ill., where interment will be made in Calvary cemetery. The deceased, who was born in Marshall county, is survived by her husband, four sisters and two brothers.

Armory Doors Open

of Fine MotorcarsDixon Exhibit to Continue
Throughout Sunday Evening

Speed in new harness, luxury plated over power, sleek finish over tough steel, bland east coating aggressiveness—all these characteristics of a product and its producers make themselves felt at the 1941 Auto Show, which made its bow to the public this afternoon in the Dixon armory at Lincoln Statue drive and Everett street. It will continue through Sunday, the daily hours being 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 11 p. m.

The first program, presenting the brilliant spectacle of the world's first-ranking industry on dress parade, reflected the spick-and-span spirit that is the motor industry's trademark. Chromium gleams and fenders shine in this revue that serves to glorify the newest accomplishments of motordom.

Powerful motors hummed and became quiet again yesterday, as dealers and their assistants eased the exhibit cars into an advantage "stance" in the 22 booths assigned especially for the purpose. Good-natured banter was tossing back and forth as polishing cloths and sponges swished in last-minute grooming of vehicles that are certain to arouse desire of ownership. (One dealer felt so happy about the whole affair that he took "time out" to toss off a solo on the stage piano—and his efforts were roundly applauded.)

In this $25,000 display, nine Dixon dealers are showing 22 models, varying from sleek sedans to a cut-away motor. All reflect amazing advancements in engineering and styling.

Suppose the novice, which means the average car owner in this motor day, begins at the southwest corner of the pennant-festooned salon and saunters along past the exhibit booths, stopping here and there before varied groups of cars along the way. At his side is an assistant acquainted with the various models on display.

Yugoslavia's Go Ahead
Sign to Hitler Brings
Growth of Discontent

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Balkan pot appears to have boiled over on one side this morning with the development of a Yugoslav cabinet crisis and much popular feeling as the result of a Crown Council decision to sign an agreement of limited adherence to the Berlin-Rome axis.

The reported decision is said to provide for economic and semi-military aid to the nazis, but preserves Yugoslavia's non-belligerency; that is, German troops wouldn't be permitted passage through her territory to attack Greece. Despite the reservations, several cabinet ministers in protest tendered their resignations—which were refused—and Serbian feeling against the government decision was said to be mounting rapidly.

The situation as described is naturally one of vast importance, but we need more information before rushing to conclusions as to just what is happening. Unconfirmed reports fly out of the Balkans so fast these days that a fellow has to carry a salt-cellar about with him.

We do know that if Yugoslavia does adhere to the axis she will do so unwillingly and has been stalling in an effort to find an avenue of escape. Without suggesting that the cabinet crisis is manufactured at all, it still is possible in view of the widespread public hostility to the axis that the government may welcome this diversion as providing a bit more time for consideration.

It depends on Hitler's plans whether the reported arrangement to maintain Yugoslav non-belligerency would be much of a gain for him.

If he intends to attack Greece, he certainly would be deprived of a powerful asset in not having the use of the great Vardar valley for the movement of his troops against Salonika and the Greek peninsula.

However, a non-belligerent Yugoslavia would afford a guard for the right flank of his army as it faces Greece and Turkey. This protection also would be useful even if he decided not to attack Greece, but merely to seal up the Balkan peninsula against attack. His left flank already is protected by the Black sea.

While his Yugoslav crisis was in the making British troops were reported to be landing in large numbers at the strategic Greek port of Salonika—the Thessalonica of early Christian history, which later helped in the defense of ancient civilization against the barbarians. This report hasn't been officially confirmed, but such landings would be logical and strong indication of Britain's intention to give Greece all possible aid.

Salonika, which is the principal Aegean seaport, on the Balkan peninsula, is likely to be the first objective of the Germans if they do attack Greece, since it is the railroad for four main railroads. It's defense would involve a major battle, and there has been some question as to whether Britain would attempt to defend it.

The British are understood to be moving 300,000 troops into Greece with full equipment, as well as several hundred airplanes. The Greeks already have 800,000 men under arms, but such a combined force of over a million. In deciding to throw her weight into this important Balkan show, Britain has been motivated by several purposes:

1. To aid Greece against German assault.

2. To defend the passage of the Dardanelles against any Nazi attempt to force this big ditch and break through into the Near East.

3. To give her Turkish ally this very substantial pledge of good will.

Swelling Tide May Force Delay in Signing Pact

BULLETIN

(By The Associated Press)
Belgrade, Yugoslavia, March 21—A swelling tide of internal discontent, led by three anti-German cabinet ministers and other high officials, forced to-night probable postponement of the Yugoslav government's plans to align itself with the axis Sunday at Vienna.

The three ministers—Serb leaders in this nation of mixed peoples—who resigned in protest against a Crown Council decision to yield to Germany, refused to remain in the cabinet even though Chief Regent Prince Paul ordered them to do so.

The dissenters flatly declared they would have nothing more to do with the government.

(By The Associated Press)
Yugoslavia's Crown Council decision to join the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance gave Adolf Hitler the green light today for his expected invasion of Greece, but at the same time precipitated a government crisis in which three Yugoslav cabinet ministers angrily proffered their resignations.

Regent Prince Paul, acting for the boy king Peter, subsequently refused to accept any cabinet resignations, declaring no one would be allowed to quit until the agreement is signed.

German quarters declared the signature day was set for Sunday, with Yugoslavia's Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Aleksander Cincar-Markovic slated to leave tonight or tomorrow for Vienna.

Serb feeling against the government's decision was described as mounting feverishly. Pictures of President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill were displayed publicly in many towns.

Tension was heightened by the disclosure that four of the nation's most prominent generals—reputedly among the strongest opponents of a surrender to Germany—had been quietly pensioned earlier this week.

British Rulers Escape

In the aerial siege of Britain, King George V and Queen Elizabeth escaped by a few hours from a violent raid on Plymouth, on the English south coast.

The German Luftwaffe, pressing its city-at-night strategy of concerted attack, showered quantities of fire bombs and high explosives on the port city not long after the British sovereigns had visited the shipyards and inspected a former United States destroyer.

Nazi pilots said the Plymouth naval provision depot was destroyed, great fires set, and "ex-amount of the $7

Grange Big Success

The local Grange sponsored a big card party and dance at the Community hall on Monday evening. The event was one of the best successes of the year, with about 300 persons attending the event. This St. Patrick's affair will long be remembered in Paw Paw circles. In the card games of the evening, Mrs. Paul Snyder took first prize for the 500 division and Randall Gale was low. In euchre, Emma Rhodes took high score with Frances Rhodes getting the low prize. One of the big attractions of the evening's events was the presentation of a real jitterbug contest. The winners of the contest were Miss Marjorie Leston and Lyle Pritchard. The old time waltz contest was equally colorful, and the winners of that prize were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Heatherington.

During the course of the evening a pressure cooker was given away. The winner of the prizes was Lambert Malach. A delicious lunch was served, with coffee and rolls being the menu. After the cards and dancing contests the huge crowd enjoyed an evening of dancing with the Amboy orchestra furnishing music.

Literary Club

On Tuesday evening the members of the local Literary club met with Mrs. Blanche Roberts. A good number were in attendance to enjoy the evening. A short program was presented and the group enjoyed a social time. Regular business matters were taken care of. The committee for the evening's event were: Mrs. Mabel Schreck, Mrs. Howard Flancher, and Miss Patch. After the program a dainty lunch was served.

Giving Lectures

Miss Florence Grunderman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grunderman, instructor at the George Williams college in Chicago, is giving a series of lectures in the health education program for the directors of the health and physical education board of the Chicago City Parks. Chicago has 111 playgrounds, gymnasiums and parks, which are run by the city parks district. Regular courses of instruction are given in many different areas for the benefit of the park directors. Miss Grunderman is giving the lectures on diet, tobacco and the endocrine glands.

Epworth League Institute

On Friday and Saturday March was invaded by a large group of young people from the Methodist churches of Sugar Grove, Bristol, Sandwich, Leland, DeKalb, Watertown, Rochelle, Hincley, Paw Paw, and several other towns. The purpose was the Spring Institute for inspiration and instruction in Epworth League work. Those who registered early on Friday evening saw movies of last year's New Lenox institute held for seven days in July. At dinner Friday evening the Leaguers were addressed by Miss Florence Southworth and Thomas Pendell who attended the Amsterdam Conference of Youth in July, 1939. Toshimi Tatsuyana of Hawaii spoke of the difficulties of racial co-operation and then went on to tell of the conference of youth of the Orient held recently and attended by Japanese and Chinese young people.

Many of the Leaguers were entertained in the Malta homes on Friday night so that they might be able to attend the services on Saturday. The institute closed with the installation services of the sub-district officers and the consecration service for all. This new pledge of love and service to Christ was most impressive.

Community Club Called Off

The Community club meeting that was to have been held on Tuesday evening was postponed. An announcement of the next meeting will appear in this column. Matters concerning the new playground in Paw Paw are being worked on.

Birthday Club Meets

The local birthday club met on Tuesday evening at the Mrs. Mabel Worsley home to honor the birthday event of Mrs. Byron Rosenkrans. A delicious dinner was served after which the group enjoyed a pleasant social time. Mrs. Rosenkrans was presented with a lovely gift.

Super-Battleships Planned for Navy

Washington, March 21—(AP)—Naval experts in the house said today the next five battleships to be built under the two-ocean fleet program would be from 60,000 to 65,000 ton dreadnaughts — the world's largest.

Representative Maas (R-Minn.), senior minority member of the house naval committee, said he had been informed the super-battleships would be of 58,000 "treaty" tons but when fully armed and armored would displace approximately 65,000 tons.

Maas added that he understood the ships were among the seven for which the navy let contracts last Sept. 9.

Earlier this week, the navy declined to discuss the matter on the ground that it was a military secret.

Maas said it was logical to assume that the new ships would be named the Montana, Ohio, Maine, New Hampshire and Louisiana because those names had been assigned to the ships to be built next.

Advocating larger battleships, Representative Scrugham (D-Nev.) chairman of the naval appropriations subcommittee, contended that it was futile for the navy to continue a policy of merely "matching" the capital ships of other nations.

"We ought to build them bigger so that there would be no

WHY ON EARTH DO THEY DO IT?

... take it for granted that their insurance is just right

It's easy to be sort of lax about insurance, particularly if you've never had a loss. "Guessing" that it's all in order can be awfully costly guesswork. You may have too much, or you may have too little. It's bad business either way.

Moral: Don't risk leaving it to disaster to show where you stand. Let us go over your insurance situation BEFORE a loss comes.

Summer Round-Up Is Scheduled

Dates for the annual Summer Round-Up were scheduled at a recent meeting of committee members at the South Central school. Mrs. Marion Church, school nurse, assisted with plans for the event, sponsored by Parent-Teacher association members for the purpose of providing an opportunity for every boy and girl in Dixon who is to enter first grade in the fall to have all physical defects corrected before September.

Presidents of local Parent-Teacher associations, committee chairmen, and members met with Mrs. Church to discuss the project, which is approved by health organizations of the state, as well as medical and dental associations.

Mrs. Leonard H. Graf, state chairman of Summer Round-Up, states: "The objective of the Summer Round-Up is to arouse interest of parents in improving the health of children entering school for the first time, and to bring about continuous medical and dental supervision of children of all ages, including those apparently healthy."

"The Summer Round-Up of the children is based on the conviction that the house is responsible for the health of the pre-school child and that the one can make no greater contribution to the school than a pupil physically ready to take full advantage of the opportunities which education has to offer."

The schedule for Dixon children reads as follows: April 8, North Central and Loveland children at North Central; April 10, Lincoln children at Lincoln school; April 17, South Central and St. Mary's children at South Central.

Handel Society Is to Present Bach Oratorio

The third annual concert of "The Passion of Our Lord According to St. Matthew" by Johann Sebastian Bach, will be given by the Handel Oratorio society in the Augustana auditorium in Rock Island on Sunday afternoon, March 30.

"It is the most touching portrayal in musical art of the feeling of a devout believer contemplating the suffering and death of Christ"—thus did Edward Dickinson, an eminent music historian, characterize the oratorio. It is generally conceded that the passion music reaches its highest level in this work.

Since 1880, the Handel Oratorio society of Augustana college has presented annual renditions of "The Messiah." Because of the difficulty of performing the work, in accordance with the magnificent intentions of the composer, the Handel chorus of some 300 voices rehearsed for three years before giving their first concert in 1939.

The oratorio is so elaborate that it is rarely offered except in large metropolitan centers. It is scored for two choruses, two orchestras, two organs, and five soloists. With the exception of one organ the Handel presentation will be a faithful rendition according to the composer's intention.

The oratorio includes almost in their entirety Chapters 26 and 27 of the Gospel according to St. Matthew. Certain hymns or chorales, at that time in common use in the churches, together with verses written by Picander are interspersed with the text. These choruses, chorales, and arias which supplement the Bible text are in the nature of comments upon events by believers who are imagined as witnesses of Christ's passion.

The chorus of 500 voices will be under the direction of Henry Veld, professor of voice at the Augustana of Music. Maintaining its policy of booking only the most talented soloists, the society will present Olive June Lacey, soprano; Jane Symons, contralto; Joseph Victor Laderoute, tenor; David Austin, baritone, and Mark Love, bass.

Tickets may be obtained from Eloy Peterson at Augustana college.

VISIT SISTER

Mrs. Dale Baker of Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. Everton Dunk and son Gary of Bloomington will be returning to their homes on Sunday, after a week's visit here with their sister, Mrs. La Verne Highbarger of 119 Peoria avenue.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and repudiated by those who suppose that the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Strikes and National Defense

If the situation is as bad as some lease-lend advocates allege it is, the little issue of whether a manufacturing plant is to be dominated by the A. F. of L., or whether it shall bend the knee to the C. I. O., soon will be comparatively unimportant. Adolf Hitler will step in and disband both organizations after putting William Green and John Lewis in concentration camps.

The administration is ill-prepared to introduce legislation to halt strikes in national defense projects or anywhere else. In the past the administration has encouraged strikes tactically. True, in those days nothing but national recovery was at stake, while today democracy is the issue. But what kind of democracy, such as is envisioned by the inner circle, would dare stop the boys from tying production into knots?

If Mr. Roosevelt or any of his inner circle should demand anti-strike legislation, and should put the screws on Congress to rush it through, labor would immediately charge the administration with abolishing democracy here to save it abroad. Then there is the peculiar nature of the American people to consider. We could enact a dozen or more laws making strikes illegal, but we couldn't stop the men from wanting to strike; and a workman to rush production on any project.

The administration is on the spot. On one hand it has a Senate which has talked and talked about the lease-lend bill while its backers yelled that the house was on fire. On the other hand it has labor, which it has taught an entirely new strike technique, and which is making vast and important use of the lessons learned in the old days when Mr. Roosevelt and Madam Perkins were hammering the corrugated brows of industrial magnates.

If labor would profit by the experience of France, it should declare a holiday on strikes for the duration of the emergency—that is, as long as Mr. Roosevelt is in office. We've been led into a situation where we've got to have production in a big way—or else.

Greece on the Spot

When Turkey wavered between self-defense, neutrality and belligerent action to help her allies, Greece is on the spot. When and if he occupies Greece, Hitler will claim the occupation is only for military purposes. Then he might have to occupy Turkey for strategic reasons, and finally Syria, Palestine and Egypt. Such an end run around the Mediterranean, if it reached the Suez canal successfully, would deal a mighty blow to British hopes in Africa, and nullify the brilliant English campaign there against Mussolini.

Greece has made a masterful defense and counter-attack against the comparatively powerful Italians, but if the Greeks could stand against the Italians on one front, and against Germany on another, we suspect they'd surprise even themselves. Judging by their declarations they mean to fight all comers. If that intention is carried out it means only that they'd rather have death than slavery. They'd give their lives for their country, which is a good object lesson to hold before any American who would permit selfish considerations to hamper our production of military necessities.

Unless Hitler has nothing but raw conquest up his sleeve, one must assume that he is threatening Greece either to get a springboard to attack Turkey, or else to rescue Mussolini, thereby helping himself indirectly. We'll have to wait and see.

While looking at Turkey, it can be observed that the Turks have one frontier adjoining Russia, and another touching Bulgaria and Greece. Germany has occupied Bulgaria, and that part of Greece which touches Turkey is considered indefensible. If Germany and Russia were to make a joint attack upon Turkey they might divide that country between them as they did Poland—provided they could defeat the Turks jointly.

The Turks are very tough fighters personally, but their military equipment is not first rate.

How much help Britain can lend to Turkey and Greece, if the Germans attack and they resist, remains to be seen. It is a difficult problem for Britain.

During the Spanish civil war it became inconvenient for Spanish growers and handlers to maintain their markets for cork and olive oil, two commodities which most of us usually associate with Spain. Much of the source of supply of cork and olive oil was damaged or destroyed during military operations, and it was some time before producers were back at work. But in the meantime people elsewhere had supplied substitutes for both cork and olive oil and the Spanish markets may be lost for all time.

The same holds true with Germany of today. In the World War Germany lost her markets for dyes, and never regained them. Now we note that Americans are manufacturing harmonicas, which ordinarily come from Germany. Again, there was the old ocarina, commonly called a sweet potato, which central Europe manufactured. Came the war, and Americans began manufacturing ocarinas which are very good, indeed. Maybe you think that when the war is over we will quit making harmonicas and ocarinas. But we didn't quit making our own dyes.

After an hour or so of this, the congressmen gave up. It was apparent that Hitler is not the only one to be left in the dark about what is afoot. The administration refrained so carefully from tilting its hand that the congressional leaders found it difficult to muster justifying material for the open house debate.

Senate Chairman Woodrum of the house appropriations committee solved the problem by avoiding the mundane matter of fighting implements to the stars as follows: "Oh freedom! Thou art not as poets dream. 'A fair young girl with light and delicate limbs. 'And away tresses rushing from the cap, etc., etc. (But) 'A bearded man aimed to the teeth. That settled that.

Woodrum also settled the matter of where the $7,000,000,000 is to come from in accordance with the formula in his subcommittee hearings. In his speech he asked himself: "How are we going to pay the bill?" and he answered himself: "I do not know."

The treasury department recently ordered many thousands of zinc address plates. These were to be used to address packages of propaganda promoting sales of baby bonds to finance the defense program. The department was soon shocked to hear that Knudsen's OPM declined to let them have their zinc plates.

Reason: That much zinc would supply 10 bombers, and the bombers are more important than the address plates designed to sell bonds to raise the money for purchase of the bombers.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, March 20 — The strangest congressional hearing in many a legislative day was the house appropriations subcommittee inquiry to determine if Roosevelt's request for $7,000,000,000 is justified.

War Secretary Stimson was called to exude official administration light on the subject. He testified: "In the first place the British submitted a confidential list some months ago of their requirements," but he was hazy about it, conceding ten minutes later the list was furnished "about a month ago as I recall it."

Asked Republican Representative Taber: "Has a program been laid out to get the things you have in mind, or is it expected that you will supplement it later?"

Stimson: "That is subject, Mr. Taber, to so many contingencies of war that it is almost impossible to answer it exactly."

Mr. Knudsen, the production boss, was called. "We have a preliminary schedule," he said, "we have a sort of forecast covering the $7,000,000,000, but it is not in final form."

Representative Cannon asked what credit this government would get for the materials, and whether they would be inventoried at the cost of production.

Mr. Knudsen: "I haven't the faintest idea."

Budget Director Smith was called. He was asked how the expenditure would be supervised. "I do not think that has been finally determined," said Smith, "but it is my understanding there will be some kind of a policy committee, probably consisting of cabinet officers who will work at this program in relation to their own."

Representative Ludlow: "Where will the records of this vast transfer of material be kept? In your office?"

Smith: "I don't know exactly what sort of system we will have, but the original records will be kept in the departments with some provision for centralizing summaries."

After an hour or so of this, the congressmen gave up. It was apparent that Hitler is not the only one to be left in the dark about what is afoot. The administration refrained so carefully from tilting its hand that the congressional leaders found it difficult to muster justifying material for the open house debate.

Senate Chairman Woodrum of the house appropriations committee solved the problem by avoiding the mundane matter of fighting implements to the stars as follows: "Oh freedom! Waterway Scheme Hits Opposition Among Law Makers

Washington, March 21—(AP)—Some opposition developed in congress today against the U. S. Canadian agreement to harness the St. Lawrence river for power and open its turbulent waters for navigation by ocean-going ships.

Most senators who successfully fought ratification of a St. Lawrence treaty submitted in 1934 were immediately critical of the new agreement, advocated by President Roosevelt as a vital defense move.

Senator Adams (D-Colo.) said that from a defense standpoint he could not see much immediate benefit in a project requiring four or five years to complete.

Declaring power was needed for defense industries, Senator Norris (Ind-Neb.) sided with the president and said the project would benefit the entire nation.

Senator George (D-Ga.), who voted against the treaty when it failed of ratification seven years ago, said the new agreement would be studied in relation to current plans for national defense and aid to Britain.

Legislature Strategy
Those favoring the St. Lawrence project considered its chances enhanced by the fact that the agreement would come before congress in the form of legislation requiring only a majority vote in each house of congress, rather than as a treaty, which requires confirmation by two-thirds of the Senate.

The agreement for the huge project, rivaling the Panama canal in size, was signed at Ottawa Wednesday by Canada's Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and by U. S. Minister J. P. Moffatt and A. A. Berle, Jr., Assistant Secretary of State.

Engineers estimated the work would cost $266,170,000, with most or all of the expense to be borne by this nation.

Roosevelt, a foremost advocate of the project, declared in a letter to Prime Minister King that "the combination of advantages offered by the St. Lawrence project makes it imperative that we undertake it immediately".

Two power plants would be built, one on each side of the international boundary, each to generate 1,100,000 hydro-electric horsepower. A 27-foot channel for sea going vessels would be provided through the International Rapids section.

Ad Lib Gagster Makes Cafe to Theatre Hop

Chicago, March 21—(AP)—Wilie Shore, ad lib gagster and eccentric dancer, has reversed a popular routine by hopping from cafe floor shows to the legitimate theater.

In his "legit" debut Wednesday in "See My Lawyer" Shore read first part he ever had memorized, and didn't get a chance to ad lib a line or dance a step. Moreover, he realized an ambition that's been tagging him since he failed to land a part in "Charley's Aunt" in high school nearly 15 years ago.

In his first night performance, he played one of three struggling young lawyers mixed up with a screwball client.

"My goal," Shore said, "is to break into musical comedy and I think I've got a likely stepping stone here."

A product of the Halstead and Maxwell streets district of Chicago, Shore tried out for the dramatic club at Senn high school.

"But I always was clowning around and for punishment I didn't get a part," he said.

He capitalized on his "clowning around" later, however, when he entered vaudeville and combined it with ballet dancing.

Defense Commission Announces Price Plan To Prevent Increases

Washington, March 21—(AP)—The defense commission has announced a three point pricing policy designed to prevent unwarranted increases in the cost of consumer goods.

Recommendations made by Miss Harriet Elliott, consumer commissioner, were:

That anticipated cost increases which have not yet materialized, should not be made the basis for price advances.

That when prices of new goods advance, inventories should be averaged rather than marked up to the new level.

That rigid adherence to the practice of traditional rates of mark up should be discouraged unless it can be shown that costs have advanced by an equivalent amount.

British Claim Army of Nile Has Set Record

London, March 21—(AP)—The Ministry of Information said today the British Army of the Nile had established a "world's record for speed in action" and had killed or captured the "whole army of 150,000 men" which the Italian commander, General Rodolfo Graziani had assembled in North Africa for the invasion of Egypt.

It is believed that two tanks and four armored cars escaped from Graziani's force, the ministry said.

It added that the British had suffered less than 2,000 casualties.

St. Louis, March 21—(AP)—Carrying on for her 23-year-old brother, Wilfred le Baube, who has been drafted for military service, Mrs. Viola Renz, 40, today became the only woman in St. Louis licensed to drive a taxicab.

Her action means the le Baube taxi service will remain strictly a family affair and on a 24-hour basis.

Another brother, Arthur, drives the night shift; her father, Alexander le Baube, pilots the cab in the morning, and Mrs. Renz will be in charge in the afternoon, when Wilfred formerly drove.

Not All Government Checks Easy to Cash
Greenville, S. C., March 21—(AP)—Not all Uncle Sam's checks are easy to cash.

A Negro woman who received a three cent check for participation in the AAA farm program took her check to a bank—where a teller informed her it would cost her ten cents to get her money.

Sadly she returned to the Greenville county farm agent's office for advice. Administrator W. W. Cromer gave her three new pennies for the check.

LYNN FONTANNE IS AN ANGEL TO HOPEFUL ACTORS

(Editor's Note: One of the most glamorous of all the stage actresses of today is Lynn Fontanne. She and her husband, Alfred Lunt, compose the most successful and best known acting team in the United States. Vesta Kelling, writing for the Special News Service and The Telegraph, gives an excellent personality-profile of Miss Fontanne.

By VESTA KELLING

New York (Special News Service)—"Rich Lynne" is what Alfred Lunt sometimes calls his wife, Lynn Fontanne, because of what he terms her "lady bountiful complex" which makes this great lady of the stage prodigal with her time, money and an enthralling tenderness which notably includes Mr. Lunt himself.

To select seven or eight young people for minor parts in their plays, Miss Fontanne and Mr. Lunt—always seen side by side—will interview as many as 200 novice thespians, painstakingly listening to the same part read over and over until the small hours of the morning, night after night.

Miss Fontanne has coached free of charge many a budding actress. To one youngster with a Hollywood contract in sight she gave $1,200 so that she could have her nose straightened.

Her Christmas gift to young friend Richard Whorf one year was $500, the sum he needed to join the scenic designers' union.

When Miss Fontanne's theatrical maid married her chauffeur, she turned over to the pair her own New York apartment for a two-weeks' honeymoon, all expenses paid.

Consols Husband
On opening nights Miss Fontanne, by nature stability itself, extends this benevolence to her husband, who is inevitably sunk in depression before curtain time, convinced that the play is bad, that he is poor in his part and that no one will come to see the show anyway.

Slow voiced Miss Fontanne has glowing reports relayed from the box office and at regular intervals assures him that they are about to make the hit of their career.

Once Miss Fontanne lost her steps-in on the stage—the night "Caprice" opened in Chicago. Not a snicker was heard out front as, without a pause in her lines, she toed the garment under a nearby sofa, but when the scene was ended the audience burst into applause.

Another time, when she was opening a one-act vaudeville play in Newark, she turned to point dramatically to what was supposed to be the portrait of a grey bearded man only to find a painting of "The Last Supper" hung in the spot instead. The folks out front laughed with her.

Miss Fontanne, English-born daughter of a French type founder, attributes her steady nerves to her early British environment. She is now sponsoring a Spitfire fighter fund. In the World war, she drove an ambulance in the British Volunteer Corps.

Unlike most stage stars both the Lunts are from non theatrical backgrounds, he being the son of a Wisconsin timberman.

In the early 1900's a friend in London led little Lynn to Ellen Terry, who listened to the child recite, took her on tour and gave her a role in "Alice-Sit-By-the-Fire" in 1905.

She first came to this country in 1910 to work in "Mr. Preedy and the Countess" and returned in 1917 with Laurette Taylor's company.

Lunt fell down a backstage flight of stairs when, stricken on sight, he bowed to kiss Miss Fontanne's hand the first time they met. The romance is enjoying a run virtually unprecedented in the theater.

Friends of Noel Coward
While the courtship gathered momentum, they often sat around gloomy theatrical boarding houses in the narrow canyons off Broadway with a bright young man named Noel Coward, plotting the future. Lynn and Alfred were to wed and co-star. All three would do a show together some time, this to be "Design for Living," a hit of 1933.

When not working they spend their time on their estate at Genesee Depot, Wis., which was Lunt's home farm as a boy and where they have built a Swedish manor house and a swimming pool—another dream come true.

There Miss Fontanne presides in gingham dresses she even wears at New York rehearsals, chews gum, pampers has Dachshunds, raises chickens, tends her flower beds and helps her husband with his four-acre truck garden. Both indulge in cooking fancy dishes (but he is the better cook) and organize folk dances in the village.

Miss Fontanne has been quoted as saying that the date of her birth in "Who's Who" was incorrect and that her age was nobody's business anyway.

No matter how you slice her contentions, the public would rather watch "Rich Lynne" bicker, wrestle, flirt or coo with her husband in one of their frequently discreetly racy productions, plot good or bad, than most actresses in one better written.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASES
Chicago—(AP)—Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor, said that reports from 6,418 Illinois manufacturing and non-manufacturing establishments indicated an increase of 0.3 in employment during February, 1941, compared with January. The increase in payrolls for the same period was set at 1.8 per cent. The reporting establishments had 686,961 workers on the payrolls.

Green Cool Toward September Primaries

Springfield, Ill., March 21 — (AP)—Governor Green is cool toward a proposal by Illinois Republican congressmen that primary elections be shifted from April to September.

The short period between the primary and general elections was proposed by the 15 Republican congressmen in a petition circulated in Washington by Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin, who said congressmen now are criticized if they leave sessions of congress to go to their home districts and campaign for April primaries.

"The longer campaign certainly gives the people a better chance to compare the rival candidates and it gives the candidates more of an opportunity to present their platforms to the people of the entire state," the governor said in a press conference yesterday afternoon.

"I would think a long time before I would change it. I would think there would have to be some potent reasons for such a change."

Farmer Held in $2,000 Bond on Charge of Setting Off Church Bomb

Lyons, Ind., March 21—(AP)—Seized after the dynamiting of the Free Methodist church during a Lenten service, George Benham was at liberty under $2,000 bond today on a charge of unlawful use of dynamite.

Four persons were injured and 50 others shaken by the explosion Wednesday night. In the congregation was the wife of Benham, 50-year-old Green county farmer. Prosecutor Robert L. Stevenson and Sheriff Charles Blanton said they had been informed that Benham objected to his wife's attendance at the service.

The blast hurled splinters and pieces of concrete over the congregation and the Rev. R. C. Eastham pastor. A door 10 feet from the pulpit was shattered and the explosion was reported heard over a radius of 10 miles.

The pastor expressed the theory that persons angered by his preachments against "illegal business" set off the blast.

They'll Do It Every Time

Major Corporation Dissolution Order Issued; "Big Step"

Washington, March 21—(AP)—Elimination of the United Light & Power Company, top unit in a $600,000,000 holding company system, was ordered yesterday by the Securities Commission.

The action, the commission's first major dissolution order, was termed by Chairman Jerome Frank as a "big step in a big job" of utility integration.

The order came as no surprise to United Light—which as now constituted operates in 14 cities—and the company outlined last week a probable method of compliance with the integration section of the holding company act. Yesterday's order was a step toward corporate simplification in conformity with a clause which prohibits more than two holding companies above an operating unit.

New Operating Company
The action will not directly affect the operating scope of the company system and its first accomplishment will be to make the United Light & Power Company the system's top unit.

This company then will control directly two intermediary holding companies—American Light & Traction Company and Continental Gas & Electric Corporation; one operating company which is to be newly-formed under the plan and will be known as Peoples' Light & Power Company; one service company, the United Light & Power Service Company, and two transportation companies, Tri-City Railway Company (Illinois) and Tri-City Railway Company (Iowa).

SUBLETTE

The regular meeting of the Sublett Parent-Teacher Association was held at the public school in Sublette on Friday evening. A good number were present. The program was given by the pupils of the Angier school in charge of their teacher, Miss Sondergroth. They presented two short plays, "Lucy's Loyalty to her Country" and "Pussy Cat's Narrow Escape". A number was played by their rhythm band.

Their numbers were well presented and were greatly enjoyed by all those in attendance.

Mrs. Kimberly of Mendota, gave a very helpful talk.

A short play based on Founder's Day was given by some of the members of the organization.

The next meeting will be held on Friday evening, April 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Bauer and family were visitors Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stueffert of Lamolite.

Illinois Quarantine Against Corn Borer Lifted by Gov. Green

Springfield, Ill., March 21 — (AP)—The state's European corn borer quarantine was lifted yesterday by Governor Dwight H. Green on advice of the state agriculture department. Federal quarantine ended some time ago.

State Agriculture Director Howard Leonard said that the state insect pest control committee and the division of plant industry agreed that the quarantine was impractical because of the moth that breeds the corn borer is carried 25 miles and more by the wind.

The state will emphasize controlling the borer at the source, Leonard said. He reported that the corn borer was found in 18 Illinois counties last year, but not in sufficient numbers to constitute a menace.

In its history, the United States has paid $102,200,000 to six foreign governments for territory purchased.

Uncle Sam Starts Campaign to Sell Defense Finances

Billions of Dollars in New Securities Put On Sale May 1st

Washington, March 21—(AP)—The treasury today began enrolling an army of 500,000 persons to assist in a campaign to sell billions of dollars worth of the new defense savings securities to the American public.

Gale F. Johnston, St. Louis insurance man who will supervise the drive, said the campaign workers would be sent out to ask employers to use the securities for employee savings plans; to canvass the schools; to urge labor union cooperation; to arrange with banks so depositors can have the bonds bought for them regularly and charged to their accounts, and to organize other promotional activities.

Governors, mayors and other prominent local officials will be asked to name committees in even the smallest communities.

The new securities, announced last night by Secretary Morgenthau, were graded in denominations all the way from 10 cents to $10,000, in order to make regular purchase programs fit into almost any size purse.

With some officials hoping to multiply several times the $1,000, 000,000-a-year rate at which "baby" bonds have been sold, here are the investment ways they will place on the market May 1:

Postal savings stamps—10, 25 and 50 cents, and $1 and $5 units. Bear no interest. Redeemable in cash anytime or exchangeable for defense savings bonds.

Defense savings bonds—Almost identical with existing "baby" bonds, which they will replace May 1. In denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Purchase limited to individuals.

Series F and series G bonds—Each series in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Sold to corporations as well as individuals.
While the defense savings bonds may be cashed at any time after purchase, the series F and G bonds cannot be cashed until held six months, and then the treasury reserves the right to require 30 days notice. In all three cases, the sale value of the bond accelerates as it approaches maturity.

Of this number, 159,680 passed the test; 319 failed entirely and 19,909 were recommended for restricted licenses. Poor sight was the chief cause of failure to pass the examinations.

Apples from Last Year's Crop Are Kept Asleep; Fresh as When Picked

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associate Press Science Editor
Ithaca, N. Y., March 18—(AP)—Apples from last year's crop, kept asleep by a new process so they remain as fresh as when picked, are coming on the market in May and June.

This will be the first commercial test of sleeping fruit. The apples are now in a state which literally stimulates the deepest sleep.

They have been stored since summer by four storages in New York state, and at Cornell university, where this new process has been under development for four years by Dr. R. M. Smock, assistant professor of pomology.

The fruit was placed last fall in cool rooms, 40 degrees instead of the ordinary 32 degrees cold-storage temperature. The rooms were sealed tightly and the oxygen of their air reduced to two per cent instead of the normal 20 per cent. At the same time the carbon dioxide was raised to five per cent, this gas coming from the fruit.

This atmosphere has been maintained steadily ever since. The two per cent oxygen is just enough to keep the apples alive. They have to respire, or breathe.

The Treatment of Christ

By REV. THEODORE DE BOER,
Pastor West Side Congregational Church

This is the season when we think more about the treatment of Christ at the hands of wicked men than at any other time of the year. So in this meditation may we think of the treatment which Jesus received immediately preceding and culminating in His crucifixion. Let us consider the treatment of Christ in a few details.

First, the Face of Jesus. In Matt. 26:67 we read: "then did they spit in His face." In this act these men showed their supreme contempt to the Lord Jesus Christ. In Psalm 30:7 we read, "Thou didst hide Thy face and I was troubled." Here the Psalmist is seeking the favor of God, but sin had made God withhold it. By putting these two verses together, we are led to think deeper into this act of spitting into the face of Jesus. It was an act of God's creatures spitting into the face of their Creator, thus deliberately showing their contempt for God's favor.

Secondly, the Head of Jesus. In Mark 15:16-20 we read how wicked men made a wreath of thorns and crowned Him with it. The head speaks of authority. By crowning His head with this mock crown, these wicked men rejected

God's authority. Now let us ever remember if we choose to rule our own lives and not submit to God's authority, or if we are satisfied to remain in our own wilful ways of sinning, we are just as guilty as these men were.

Thirdly, the Hands of Jesus. In Matt. 27:2 and 29 we read how they bound His hands and nailed them to the cross. Those hands which had broken the loaves and blessed the children, and loosed many from the chains of Satan and ministered so much good were now pierced and made useless. The hands speak of blessed ministrations. In this act these men repudiated the blessed ministry of Christ.

May we not forget that we, too, can disclaim the ministry of the hands of Christ who gives to us every temporal blessing of life. We, too, nail them to the cross unless we remember that they were nailed there for our soul's salvation.

May this meditation on the treatment of Christ help us to live lives that will be well-pleasing to the Lord.
